75,000 Yds American Printing Co's Wash Fabrics, 250 Styles,

Our grandmothers used printed fabrics for their prettiest dresses and valued them highly, yet the fabrics of their day required the most careful treatment to preserve the color. American Printing Company fabrics of the present are of more artistic color, better printed and will withstand more hard usage than the printed cloths of former years.

They are sun proof and soap proof, and their soft but brilliant hues are hardly impaired by months of service.

250 dainty designs, equal in appearance to the more expensive woven materials. Thousands of yards of these fabrics in Gingham effects and black and white checks, with a mercerized finish, are exclusive with us, and no Richmond store has ever before attempted a sale of such magnitude. Beautiful display of these Wash goods in our Broad-street window.

New Wash Suits, Waists and Skirts

Our garment buyer is in New York and shipping us new goods every day.

The belated hot weather gave a black eye to manufacturers, and many a good bargain is being picked up by buyers who are in the market.

Our people have been taking advantage of this fact, and some of the best values of the season are now on sale.

To show how the ready-to-wear section of this store is appreciated we might say that notwithstanding the general reports of a falling off in this class of business all over the country, due to a cold spring, our sales far exceed those of last year.

ASHLAND SOON TO HAVE PUBLIC HALL

Township Gives Lot, and Building Is Now Rapidly Progressing.

NEW ELECTRIC LINE STATION

All Ashland Will Celebrate Opening of New Link With Richmond.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

ASHLAND, VA., June 29.—Ashland is finally to have a public hall suitable for all kinds of public meetings and entertainments, and it is to be a very substantial and pretentious one at that. The town has long needed a building of this kind. Through the enterprise, public spirit and energy of Mr. John D. Harris, of the Ashland Water Company, an arrangement has been perfected with the town of Ashland for the construction of this building on the triangular lot owned by the town. The concrete foundation has been completed, and the building is now almost under roof. The building is 100 feet long by 40 feet wide, and will seat about 400 people. It has a stage 32x20 feet, and will be equipped with all modern conveniences, and ready for occupancy by August 15th.

Work is progressing rapidly on the new power plant of the Ashland Gas, Sewer and Water Company here. The heavy and powerful pumping machinery is being placed in position. The 100 foot steel tower for the water tank is completed and the tank is being planned for the laying of the water mains in the town, and the general manager of the company, Mr. J. D. Harris, is now in Philadelphia for the purpose of ordering the pipe. About five miles of piping will be completed during the summer months.

Build Masonic Hall.

The Masons are preparing to build a Masonic Hall in Ashland, which will be a decided credit to the town, costing between four and five thousand dollars. The committee, consisting of Messrs. Brown, Doswell, Ray, Cox and Howison, will submit their report on the subject at the special meeting called for the purpose.

Several of the resident past masters of the lodge will attend the special meeting. At the last meeting of the lodge, Mr. Rutherford Fleet, of Ashland, and Mr. Clarence Taylor, of Hanover Courthouse, were initiated in the first degree.

The new station of the Richmond and Chesapeake Bay Railway (electric line) is nearing completion, and it is fully expected that the line will be in operation by July 20th. It is proposed to celebrate in Ashland the opening of this new line, and large crowds are expected on that day. Those in Ashland who are interested will communicate with Mr. J. M. Cox and Mr. J. E. Howison.

At the present time three of the prominent churches in Ashland, without a regular pastor—the St. James Episcopal Church, the Ashland Baptist Church and the Christian Church.

The school board will announce in a few days its improved plans for the Ashland graded school, the list of teachers and the re-election of a principal for next session. It is believed that Professor David T. Duncan will accept the principalship for the next session. Mr. L. E. W. Meyberg, of the board, who looks particularly after the financial affairs of the school, announced that there will be a general increase of salaries, and a decided improvement in the efficiency of the corps of teachers thereby.

Personals and Briefs.

The Duncan Memorial Sunday school will give its annual picnic July 24 at Idlewood, and will be largely attended.

Cadwalader-Cougill.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

WINCHESTER, VA., June 29.—Miss Agnes Corrine Cougill, daughter of J. W. Cougill, of near Stephens City, has been married last evening at the home of her parents to James Milton Cadwalader, a prominent young farmer of the same vicinity, by Rev. E. A. Stanton, of the United Brethren Church. A large gathering of friends attended an elaborate old Virginia reception and supper later.

NEIGHBORHOOD LIBRARY.

Interesting New Work Undertaken by Young Ladies.

Great interest is being manifested in the opening of the Neighborhood Public Library, No. 821 Brook Avenue, which took place on Friday. The library was organized by Miss Nellie V. Williams and Miss Adele Corling.

These young ladies are members of the School of Library Science of the State Library, and are undertaking this new work for the good of the cause. The books are free to all children, irrespective of sect or creed, the only requisite being that the child be able to write his own name and address.

Mr. Berkeley, of the traveling library division of the State Library, has sent fifty books, with which the library was opened. The beginning is small, but it is hoped that the library will grow and become an influence for good in the city.

Empty bookcases are in place, waiting for suitable books for the children. All those desiring to contribute books may send them to Miss N. V. Williams, No. 1622 West Crane Street, or Miss Adele Corling, No. 1615 West Grace Street. The library is open on Tuesdays and Fridays from 4 to 6 P. M.

Sex and Sensitiveness.

From the cradle to the grave a man displays almost invariably a far greater sensitiveness than a woman—even taken individually. What, for instance, can exceed the delicate shyness and reticence of a newly-minted boy of almost any class from Boston to Poplar? I think any head master would tell you that the sensitive reticence of a boy far exceeds that of his sister at the same age.—Planet.

A Bright Outlook.

The government reports are better this year than ever before, thanks to recent scandals, but they require judicious interpretation before the truth they contain is yielded up. As the game stands at present, the outlook is for dollars in the farmers' pockets, and the tonnage the railways can carry, not a cent more for a loaf of bread.—New York Times.

WHITE SULPHUR MORE POPULAR THAN EVER

Famous Resort, Set Like Jewel Among Purple Mountains, Is Household Word in Virginia.

TO CELEBRATE CENTENNIAL

Next Year's Will Be One Hundredth Session, and Event Will Be Appropriately Marked.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

GREENBRIER WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. VA., June 29.—This, one of the most delightful of all watering places, the old White Sulphur Springs is now open for the season, and early as it is, many guests are already registered here, while orders for apartments are arriving daily. The passing years seem but to enhance the popularity of this place of resort, which, set like a jewel among the purple mountains, overarched by cloudless skies, and swept by health-giving breezes, continues to be the Mecca of visitors from all over the country.

Not only those who seek new life and health from the wonderful medicinal waters, but the gay, the young, who are attracted here by the brilliant social functions for which the springs are famous. The progressive management has made many improvements since last season, including a new water supply and sewerage system, private baths have been added to the cottages, and a magnificent dairy is now maintained, with a selected herd of fine Jersey cows.

Next summer will be the centennial year of the Greenbrier White Sulphur Springs, and plans are already a-foot for celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of this famous resort in an appropriately royal fashion. It is probable that there will be a homecoming day or week, gay with brilliant social affairs, souvenirs of the occasion, and a general gathering of families from all over the South, whose ancestors never failed to come here summer after summer, traveling hither right royally in their own elegant coaches and escorted by a retinue of servants.

There was hardly a noted man or woman of the country whose name is not inscribed on the ancient registers, now religiously preserved. The very atmosphere of the place is historical, while the great ballroom, the long galleries, the green lawns, are replete with memories of lovely women and chivalrous men, whose presence once cast a glamor over this glorious old place.

Added Brilliance.

The Jamestown Tercentennial Exposition will lend added brilliancy and gaiety to the springs this season, as parties coming and going will stop at White Sulphur Springs en route. The exposition has revived the importance of and the interest in the old families of Virginia, from Chesapeake Bay to the mountain slopes of the West, the name and glories of their old ancestral homes, are household words throughout the country, and at White Sulphur one may meet personally the descendants of these people, in whom their gracious manners and forceful personalities are delightfully perpetuated.

Colonel John D. Potts and his family will be here again this season. Mr. and Mrs. Potts are pleasant people to know, and their daughter, Miss Maria Potts, was one of the debutantes of the past season, and lavishly feted during her stay here.

Mrs. Annie Bell, of Louisville, is another popular guest. Mrs. Bell has taken a cottage in Georgia Row, and her arrival is pleasantly expected.

Guests are arriving daily, the weather is superb, the hotel grounds and surrounding scenery more beautiful than ever, the old employees are on hand to welcome the arrivals—in fact, the whole place seems on its feet, and within a few days all will be glad in the midst of a bewildering whirl of brilliant social functions.

Sentiment in Politics.

Sentiment runs to an extraordinary extent in party politics, with the result that thoughtful judgment on many commercial reforms is rare.—Magazine of Commerce.
